

Two day workshop on:
Attachment Relationships and Special Needs
Thursday 19th & Friday 20th May 2016
10.00am – 3.30pm

at
The Brook Special Primary School
Adams Road, N17 6HW

This two-day workshop is available to families of children with special needs and challenging behaviour and any professionals working with this group of families.

The workshop will:

- Explore the importance of attachment relationships in addressing challenging behaviour for both the families of children with special needs and the professionals working with families.
- Draw on the work of FABLE in supporting families to address the challenging behaviour of children with special needs. Using the 'FIVE TO THRIVE' model.
- Brings key messages from current neuroscience for early intervention and positive parenting.
- Show the importance of placing the child and the support relationships around the child at the centre of any intervention.
- Identify how to create an attachment aware environment that helps to promote growth and resilience for both the child and the adult.

This TWO-DAY workshop is offered FREE
